About Our Guest Speaker

Todd Mills is the founder and President of LS2 - Lean Safety Leadership Solutions (<http://www.ls2.expert>). He has over 30 years’ experience in general industry and construction. His goal is to help organizations incorporate lean principles to improve safety performance while increasing productivity, cost optimization, quality, and morale.

Todd began his career with Briggs and Stratton in HR & product development before transitioning to Toyota in 1988 as a member of the start-up team for their first wholly owned vehicle assembly plant in North America. Todd led multiple department and plant-level initiatives in Safety at Toyota’s Georgetown, Kentucky plant before moving to Toyota’s North American Headquarters in 1998. During his time there he served in corporate leadership roles in Safety Engineering, Environmental, and HR.

Before retiring, Todd was a Senior Manager in Safety Engineering with responsibility for construction safety, machine & robot safety, electrical safety, and ergonomics for Toyota's 16 vehicle plants, engine plants, & R&D facilities in the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

Todd has held a multitude of leadership positions outside of Toyota including as a Board Member and Treasure of the Construction Users Roundtable, a member of the ANSI B11.19 Committee (Performance Criteria for Safeguarding), and a member of the Kentucky Workforce Investment Board. He is also a 2005 graduate of Leadership Kentucky.

He is a member of the American Society of Safety Engineers and is past Secretary for the ASSE Northern Kentucky Section. He holds a B.A. in Industrial/Organizational Psychology from Marshall University and did his Masters work at Murray State University in Industrial/Organizational Psychology. He is the Secretary-elect for the Cincinnati/Northern Kentucky Marshall University Alumni Chapter.
