About Our Guest Speaker

Cara Silletto is the Founder and President of Crescendo Strategies, a company committed to reducing unnecessary employee turnover and eroded profit margins for clients across the country by bridging generational gaps and making leaders more effective in their roles.

She graduated magna cum laude with a bachelor’s degree in corporate communication & PR from the University of Indianapolis, and later earned her MBA from the University of Louisville.

Cara currently sits in a unique sweet spot for her specialty of bridging the great generational divide, because she is an early Millennial herself, and with more than 14 years of experience learning the unwritten expectations of older managers and business owners in her business career including Business Development Manager for a government contractor and Director of Educational Services for Indiana Health Care Association.

Her consulting niche has earned her a number of recognitions, as Cara has been featured in both “Today’s Woman” and “BG” magazines, and she was named a 2014 Game Changer by “Workforce Magazine” in Chicago. Cara is also a co-author of the newly released book “What’s Next in HR”.
